WELCOME

Grafton Regional Gallery, where amazing things happen!

It's with great excitement that the Gallery team presents the March to July 2021 exhibition program, celebrating the re-opening of the Gallery. This year the Gallery team has programmed a sensational array of exhibitions for all ages.

The new Gallery opens with a celebration of the magnificent Clarence Valley with three exciting exhibitions. View the mighty Clarence River and the surrounding landscape with the sublime exhibition River to the Sea, through the eyes of artists - Frances Belle Parker, Sophie Cape, Steve Lopes, Euan Macleod, Robert Moore, Amanda Penrose Hart, Deborah Taylor and Ann Thomson.

The second exhibition titled Our Place, is a vibrant celebration of our creative community, and the third exhibition enjoys a vivid burst of happiness and colour with the Goldberg Aberline Studio community collaboration UnWrapping ; Desire, Allure and the Culture of Single Use Plastic, which explores the reuse of single use plastics to create sublime, inflatable sculptures.

Autumn opens with Drawn: Another view, celebrating the creative talent of our region with an exhibition of recent drawings by local artists. We examine the human condition, and uncover the personalities behind the image in the ever popular National Photographic Portrait Prize and explore the collection through the eyes of local First Nations curator Dani Gorogo.

Winter celebrates the vibrancy of our local Aboriginal artists with the Clarence Valley Indigenous Art Award (CVIAA) and we catch up with Yulgilbar Travelling Fellowships artists Jaz Grady, Jimmy Waggs and Julianne Gosper who share new work inspired by their fellowship research. We celebrate the creative talent of our local schools with a rolling festival of exhibitions.

Keep an eye out for our Café exhibition program featuring local artists. To get creative, and be involved check our website, Eventbrite and Facebook pages for information on upcoming creative workshops and events for all ages.

I hope to see you at an event in the renewed Gallery soon.

UNWRAPPING: DESIRE, ALLURE AND THE CULTURE OF SINGLE USE PLASTIC

UNWRAPPING: Desire, Allure and the Culture of Single Use Plastic is an exciting installation, and the fruition of a twelve month collaboration with Goldberg Aberline, the Lower Clarence Arts Group, Cowper Art Gallery and Studio, McAuley Catholic College; and local artists Cassandra-lyn Palmer, Kerrie Bowles, Julianne Gosper, Linda Coombs, Deborah McLennan, Cynthia McDermott, Suzanne Monin, Toni Simpson, Diane Nixon, Michelle Worley and Pamela Denise and GAS artists Maurice Goldberg and Matthew Aberline. Unwrapping explores the GAS's fascination with the tantalising, decorative aspects of consumerism and commercial packaging. What draws us to the shiny, colour saturated surfaces, and how does it create in us a sense of value and status? How can such a powerful object of desire become completely worthless the moment it is discarded? Unwrapping engages with the Clarence Valley community to break down our complex relationship with plastics, raising awareness and tackling our urgent environmental issues.
